Information Concerning Planting, Etc.

Average distance for planting apple trees 22 to 25 feet; peach trees 18 to 25 feet; pear trees 18 to 25 feet; plums 16 to 20 feet; cherries 16 to 20 feet; pecan trees 40 to 60 feet; grapes 6 to 8 feet; blackberries 4 to 6 feet; raspberries 4 to 6 feet.

Different people have different ideas of the distance for planting trees, but the above is an average, altho trees can be planted much closer than this in small lots where they have vacant lots on the outside.

Holes should all be dug deep and large enough so as to not crook or cramp roots. Use clay, soil or sand in the holes, fertilize on the top of the ground. In order to make long life trees I think it a good idea to start the top low to the ground. This can be done by topping your tree back to 18 to 30 inches and allowing about 4 to 6 branches near the top to remain, keeping all of the other rubbed off thru spring and summer. As to time for planting trees I find that trees can be successfully planted in the South any time from November to the middle of April.

My trees are all packed with damp moss and sawdust, wrapped with heavy paper and sewed tight with burlap.
